The accident, which occurred near Colchour, only fourteen miles from this city, appears to be the result of an inexcusable blunder. Two trains were scheduled to pass south on the single track between Colehour and Hammond, Ind. At the same time, a train was due north on the same track. Orders were given to the operator at Colehour for two of the trains, btu none for the third. The express train, which left this city about 8 clock was allowed to enter the single, track running at the arte of forty miles an hour, directly toward the milk train, which had been given the right-of-way in the opposite direction on the same track. The Panhandle express had proceed-ed but a short distance when a collision occurred. The engine crews saved their lives by jumping before the two locomotives came together with a crash that wrecked them and drove the bag-gage-car of the Panhandle express com-pletely through the smoking-car behind it. It is believed that the bandits, if not members of that gang, have at least been identified in other robberies of similar nature. The bank opened for business as usual at 10 o'clock this morning. At 10:30 three mounted men rode up to the door of the bank, and, entering, quickly rushed up to A. F. Blachly, the cashier, presented guns and demanded what money he had. The cashier refused to give it up. The robbers then made a grab through the window, securing $500 and opened fire. The cashier fell, being instantly killed. The robbers then fired at H. H. Wolbert, assistant cashier, but missed him.

The shooting attracted the attention of the citizens, and Ray Simpson, a shot," ran for his Winchester and started for the alley in the rear of the bank, where the robbers had tied their horses. The robbers had started out of town when Simpson got there, but he succeeded in killing two of them by shooting them through the head. The third shot killed one of the robbers' horses, and, together the man and animal fell to the ground. After killing the two robbers, Simpson continued after the third one, taking sev-eral shots at him, but without effect. Simpson then returned to town, and getting together a posse, started at once in pursuit. The robber is thought to have about a mile start, and is mounted on a fine horse, going in the direction of the mountains. If the outlaw is acquainted with the country there is a chance for his escape, other wise the posse will capture him dead or alive. In the latter case, he will un-doubtedly be lynched on his return here. The two dead robbers were also well mounted; the horse that was not killed was caught by the citizens. There was $400 recovered from their persons, the escaping robber carrying away the

The suspicion that the men implicated in the robbery are remnants of the famous Dalton gang seems to be general. They are not known here, and there identification has not been secured. Blachly, the dead cashier, was an old resident of this place, and leaves a widow and a large family of young children, the oldest being probably 15 years of age. He and Mr. Baldwin owned the bank

The robbers were seen in town last night, and they took supper and break fast at the Central House, where the dead men registered last night at James D. Bradley and Clarence Bradley of San Miguel, Colo. Up to 10 o'clock tonight no word has been received from the pursuing party. They are led by Simpson, the man whose good aim laid low two of the robbers. If he gets an opportunity at the third man, the chase will come to an abrupt

ANOTHER LETTER.

A Communication in Which Dr. Graves Re-asserted His Innocence.
DENVER, Sept. 7.—(By the Associ-ated Press.) A letter written by the late Dr. Graves to the Associated Press was found this morning among the papers which he left for his wife. The communication, which was written a year ago last January, a few days before the date first set for his execution, solemnly declared that he had nothing whatever to do with the death of Mrs. Barnaby.

Barnaby.

The remains of the doctor will be taken to Bridgeport, Ct., on Sunday night for burial. Short funeral exercises will be conducted by the G.A.R. posts of the city on Sunday afternoon, prior to the removal of the body to the East. From an investigation made during the past few days, the impression is rapidly galning ground that Dr. Graves did not commit suicide, but died of heart disease, brought on by long imprisonment and subsequent exhaustion.

A paper was read by Rev. J. B.

Koehne of Sacramento, written by En-gineer McClintock of the Massachugineer McClintock of the Massachusetts Highway Commission, on how to build good roads. A paper was read on "Road Economics" by Engineer Ernest McCullough of San Francisco. The convention then entered on a free conference. The delegates discussed the road conditions of various counties. Finally the members desired some issues on which to build a plan of action for the convention. Then ensued a lively scene over the efforts to call the roll of the counties and have each state its grievance. That was defeat-the roll of the counties and have each state its grievance. That was defeated. santa Barbara, Futno of Bassel, richaron of Ventura, and Maslin of San Francisco.

The chief points made were the condemnation of the road overseer system; that most of the road money now spent is ill administered; that there are few good roads in the State; that more money is spent on bad roads than in a few years would build permanent ones; that the road taxation is higher than there is any necessity for; that road-building ought to be by trained road-engineers or an experienced road-builder.

Then came the event of the session in the shape of a resolution favoring borrowing money for a long term at a low rate to build good raods, instead of high annual taxation for poor ones. After a hot debate, the matter was sent to a committee of one from each county to formulate work for the convention and at 8 o'clock it adjourned to Friday morning.

THE WHITE CITY.

Pennsylvania Day Observed—Powers of the National Commissioners. CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—(By the Asso ciated Press.) Pennsylvania had delightful weather for its day at the World's Fair. It was clear, with a cool breeze from the north. Gov. Pattison, with a military escort, the Pennsylvania State Commissioners and prominent people formed a procession and marched to the building, where short speeches, and other exercises were held, followed by a reception and fire-works in the evening.

This oeing the anniversary of Brazil-ian independence, the Brazilian commissioners kept open house in honor of the occasion.

A general war has been begun by the exposition authorities against the class of fakirs who have infested the fair since it opened. These men having no concession and having, in many instances, rented space from exhibitors and sold goods in violation of the rules, are to be cleared out. Nearly four hundred of them were ejected from the different buildings today, and it is esti-mated that by the time the general clearing up if finished fully one thousand of them will be out.

The right of the National Commission to delegate the powers vested in it by Congress to John Boyd Thatcher for the selection of jurors and the formation of a system of awards is questioned in a suit brought in the United States Court today by Chase Bros., who have a piano exhibit at the fair. They also secured a temporary order restraining Thatcher or the jurors from proceeding with the inspection of the instruments.

She Defeats the Vigilant in a Close Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) The first of a series of trial races to determine which of the new American sloops is best fitted to compete with the English yacht Valkyrie in the coming international races for the possesion of the Amer-ica's cup was held today. The course was from Scotland lightship to and around a float fifteen miles to windward around a noat niteen miles to windward and return, finishing at the starting qoint. The competing yachts were the Vigilant, Jubilee and Colonia, the Pilgrim having withdrawn from the race because of a broken gaff. The Colonia won the race with the Vigilant is seconds behind

A twenty-mile breeze was blowing.

because of a broken gaff. The Colonia won the race with the Vigilant six seconds behind

A twenty-mile breeze was blowing from the southeast as the yachts started, and the sea was moderately rough. Before starting, the Colonia had taken down her club top sail, and substituted one of the ordinary style. The Vigilant looked stumpy with her topmast down, but she traveled like a Tam O'shanter five minutes after the start. The Jubilee swung slowly around and started back for New York like a crippled pigeon. She had broken her outer block of the gaff, and had withdrawn. This left the contest between the two Herreshoff boats, and it was evident that the wind and weather were too much for the Boston sloop.

The Vigilant and Colonia were now standing off on different tacks. Both were pointing almost in the eye of the wind, drawing it as fine as they knew how. Both boats sailed independently, and tacked when they liked, but the conditions were absolutely the same. All sailing craft were left far astern, except the pilot boat Gerry, which hung like a swift, hawk on the flank of the racers. Finally the race became a monotony of tacks, and it became apparent that the Vigilant had burrowed her way up into the wind, leaving the Colonia a quarter of a mile astern. The strikt; beat was sinally sighted, and this was where the interest in the race reached its greatest height.

The Vigilant had set her topmast and topsail some time before starting for the buoy. Just before reaching the buoy the Vigilant threw her long spinnaker boom to port, followed a few moments after by the Colonia. The Vigilant squared away for home and brought out her great spinnaker a few minutes after rounding. The Colonia was about five minutes behind, but gained gradually on the Vigilant in the run home. Inch by inch and foot by foot she crept up, and when the finish gun was fired, she had won by six seconds.

The Sente Fe dispatcher's office here

The Santa Fe dispatcher's office here The Santa Fe dispatcher's once here has had a shake-up similar to that of the Southern Pacific. One operator is off on a vacation, and another has been let out "owing to the, etc., etc." The chief dispatcher now takes his trick like the others, and Trainmaster Hibbard helps out on the desk.

The Southern Pacific is getting ready.

bard helps out on the desk.

The Southern Pacific is getting ready to pay its back taxes, under the Seawell reassessment law. The first installment of 50 per cent. will be due in November, and will amount to between $960,000 and $1,000,000, excluding the years 1886 and 1887, which are not covered by the act. The second installment will be due in April.

ment will be due in April.

H. C. Ives, who was one of the victims killed in the horrible wreck on the Boston and Albany road at Chester, the other day, was assistant to First Vice-President D. B. Robinson, of the Vice-President D. B. Robinson, of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Rali-way, and was well known in railroad circles all over the Union. He was for-merly purchasing agent for the Atchi-son system, and at one time was assistant to the late president of the road, Allen Manvel.

To Raise the Wind.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Miller today issued a circular to collectors of internal revenue and revenue agents to the effect that banks are issuing cer-tificates of deposit payable in currency and that these obligations are used for circulation, which issues are taxable.

The Laudable Sentiment as it Exists in Mod-ern Athens. (Samuel I. Barrows in the Christian Register:) I have been looking through (Samuel I. Barrows in the Christian Register:) I have been looking through some of the museums of Athens to see what support the philozoic sentiment might derive from archaeology. The people of Athens, some of the best and most earnest of them, are interested in the protection of animals. One plan is to give lessons in the schools, and also illustrated public lectures on this theme. I have suggested that some good subjects might be obtained from Greek art, and so a love of animals be taught by the help of the love of the beautiful. Among the fine collection of grave reliefs and monuments in the National Museum at Athens there are several full length representations in marble of a boy or a woman with a favorite dog. The tender and affectionate relation which subsists between them cannot be doubted. In two or three cases the dog is leaping up eagerly to receive something from the hand of its mistress. So far the moral lesson is good enough. Unfortunately, however, there is a third element in some of the pictures which vitlates the moral effect. It is the presence of a live bird in the right hand of the mistress for which the dog is jumping. She is holding it just high enough to tempt him to jump a little higher. It would be all right if we knew that she was rescuing the bird from the jaws of the dog, but the too evident fact is that she means to give it to him. There is no remonstrance in her face, but rather expression and attitude seem to say, "Jump a little higher and you can have him." The bird is flutering in the marble, but she holds him with a firm hand. It may be said in extenuation that perhaps it was an English sparrow or some bird that pestered the farmer, but is there evidence that English sparrows were living 500 years before Christ? In any case, if the bird is condemned to death, why not kill it at once and not torture it by holding it before the dog? And so in my catalogue I have a mark of condemnation against this woman, now some 2400 years old, who is cruel to one animal in order to have some spo some of the museums of Athens to se

He Suspected an Ad.

(Washington Star:) "Oh!" she exclaimed as she entered the police station, in a state of great anxiety, "you will help me won't-you?"

The officer in charge assured her that he would if it was in his power. "I have just met with a great loss," she continued "What was it?"

"Diamonds. I had just finished rehearsal when—"

"You are ar actress?"

"Yes."

"And you lost your diamonds?"

"Yes."

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The conditions which prevailed on the Stock Exchange during the past few days were reversed acidy. The builts, who had things pretty arly their own way up to this nearly their own way up to this morning, were olliged to give way to the bears, and ever assisted to short interest to lower prices by puting considerable long stock on the market, in the effort to realize part of the profits on the recent advance. At the very opening, the pressure to sel' manifested itself, which was most marked in Burlington. On the other hand, Sugar was strong in the eerly dealings, selling up 1½ per cent. Western Union was too, firmly held at this time, but as the bear attack became mere pronounced, the entire list yielded, and, with occasional recoveries, the industrials and rallways and specialties se'd off from ¼ to 4½ per cent, the General Electric, Burlington, Lake Shore, National Lead, Western Union, St. Faul, Rock Island and Sugar interests being the most prominent in the decline. In some instances, there was a recovery during the last hour, but prices generally cased at or near the lowest figures tuched, and the closing of the market was weak.

SUMMARY. '

A LITTLE GIRL SHOT. Yesterday afternoon what came very near being a fatal accident occurred at the Santa Monica Dairy ranch, near at the Santa Monica Dairy ranch, near town. Mr. Ortley, one of the proprietors of the dairy, just before he started on his afternoon rounds delivering milk, thought he would see if his 33-caliber pistol was in working order. Taking it in one of his hands, he fired away at an outhouse, and hardly had the report died away when his little five-year-old daughter. Bertha, came screaming out of the closet. It was then ascertained that the shot, which her father had so carelessly fired, had gone through the thin boarding of the outhouse, and had taken effect in the little girl's right shoulder, shattering several bones. Physicians were hastily summoned, who ultimately succeeded in extracting the bullet, and the child is now doing comparatively well under the circumstances. It was a very narrow escape, and it almost seemed that the

Those who attended the Free Methodist comp-meeting at the City Park, Wednesday night report that the religious services were materially disturbed by a pack of young hoodlums, who had gathered there for no other evident purpose than to make themselves a nuisance.

Not only was the air filled with their noxious and soul-harrowing cat-calls and yells, but they fired off pistols and otherwise, disturbed the tranquility of the devotional exercises.

The officers have been notified of the actions of this disturbing element, and if they persist in their disturbances, arrests will be made, and the fellows will be given an opportunity to pay a fine or go to jail.

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT. LOS ANGFLES THEATER-The Ri-

Florida and California.

We referred recently to an intelligent and fair letter regarding California, which appeared in the Florida Agriculturist. In a recent issue of that publication there is a letter of another character on the same subject. The letter purports to be from a former ian, recently residing in California, who is anxious to return to the land of the alligator if he could sell out his property here. After referring to depression in the orange industry at Riverside, he states that the days are warmer there than in Florida. This may be true, as far as the reading of the thermometer is concerned, but the correspondent omits to state how less endurable is a warm temperature in the moist climate of Florida, especially when combined with the myriad insect pests which abound there. This correspondent says: hrewd Californians have evidently the money of the tenderfoot,

"Shrewd Californians have evidently used the money of the 'tenderfoot,' who has paid from $300 to $1000 an acre for land to grow fruit on at a loss, to boom the State, and the process is still going on. The leading journals and magazines of the country are teeming with advertisements of the glories of the Golden State, and the fortunes that are to be made in fruit-growing.

"The great wealth of the Golden State is largely the hard-earned treasure poured into it from the Eastern and Middle States, and shrewdly used to gull more lambs to be shorn. At present 'Death Valley,' or some other California desert, is being sold out in 'fruit farms,' by Northern land sharks, who have taken advantage of the fehave taken advantage of the fe ver engendered by advertisements. California railway companies and other parties in the better class of mage tims are frequently poor women who have saved a pittance for old age, and have saved a pittance for old age, and are caught in a worse than a Louisiana lottery. Occasionally the true inwardness of the fortunes in California fruit and the glorles of the California climate leak out.

"The same investments in Florida, if judiclously made, will bring better results. The general testimony of returned Californians is that Florida possesses a far better climate—more free from extremes of heat or cold, with seasonable rains the year round, but principally when needed—in midsummer."

It is not true that "tenderfeet" have paid from $300 to $1000 an acre for land to grow fruit on at a loss. In the first place no such prices are paid here for land can be purchased at $150 per acre. and the best citrus land at from $30 to $400, both with an ample water sup-"Tenderfeet" are by no means the only investors at these prices. A large number of our citizens-men have lived here all the way from ten to forty years-own fruit farms, and in an average year derive a large income from them. In more than one season during the past five years returns from deciduous fruit orchards in this county have been far greater than the original cost of the land. planted to trees. There is no confie about fruit-growing in California. It is not a Louisiana lottery, but a safe investment and-year in and year out-one of the most profitable investments that can be found in the United States. The present depression in the market will pass away. as will the depression in other branches of industry. It would be as reasonable to say that the raising of wheat, or barley, or hay, or the mining of silver was an unprofitable business, be-cause all those articles just now sell of production.

fruit farms, or any other farms, are being offered for sale in Death Valley, or any other similar region of Southern California, where there is no possibility for a farm to exist. It is true that once in a while some swindler -who is almost always an Eastern man-endeavors to beguile people by selling them lots or tracts which either do not exist or are worthless, but the papers of this section are always the first to jump on and expose the operations of such scoundrels. If people are foolish enough to buy thousands of miles away, which they have never seen, through a man o whom they know nothing, they must not complain if they are duped. ern California land owners do not operate in this manner. They know the value and possibilities of their property, and court the fullest investigation. As previously stated, a large proportion of the sales made are to our own citizens, men who are thorwho, in many cases, could have bought this same land, for which they are now paying from $100 to $400 and more,

t less than 5 per cent. of those prices. As to the "general testimony of returned Californians" that Florida pos sesses a far better climate, that testimony may be set off by the opinion of hundreds of intelligent, creditable and trustworthy persons who have spent many years in both States. Of course, there are plenty of permanently dis-satisfied people, who are continually wandering from one place to another seeking in vain for Paradise, which is not to be found in this State any more than in Florida, but if the testimony of thousands of world-wide travelers is worth anything, Southern California approaches rather closer to Paradise han any other portion of the foottool, and is, anyway, three thousand

It has been estimated that at the present time the number of unemployed will reach 2,000,000 in this country alone. Unless there comes an early revival of our national industries an untold amount of suffering will result during the coming winter to this great army of enforced idlers and those dependent upon them. It is a fearful thing for men who are willing and anxious to work to be unable to find work to do. Day by day want come nearer, the children are poorly the necessaries of life come to be lacking, and the father hears his children crying for bread, and he has none to dive them.

Add to this the intense suffering which will result when the rigors of an Eastern winter set in. Coal and other fuel cost money, and money is not to be had when work stops. Where is the plenty that was to come if mer would only vote for Democracy and

Do you hear of it from the fireless hearths and empty cupboards of the men whose search for employment has vain, and who have watched day by day their scanty means disappear while work seemed just as far off as ever? What is the story that languishing industries tell and the million silent wheels of manufactures proclaim? What means the hush along many of the lines of our great railoads, and the quiet in our mines and many harvest fields? It is the same story of uncertainty pointing to want and suffering unless relief comes. Never before has the country so fully realized the fact that the Democratic party is a party without any well-established policy, and incapable of solving the great economic problems of the age. The question of supply and demand is beyond the measure of its compre-hension, and it seems no better able to handle the financial problem than to estimate the weight of the universe. The Republican party has been the party of ways and means, and it has grappled successfully with the political and economic problems that have been thrust upon it. These times teach us the value of its policy and the wisdom of the principles which mould its ac-tions. It does not blunder, but it moves deliberately onward toward the accomplishment of its ends. This great party is studying the situation today and it sees the lack of wisdom that has paralyzed the in-dustrial forces of the country, and which threatens this great army of 2,000,000 of unemployed with want. The country will not vote for another four years of Democratic administration. It has swallowed the political pill that it voted for, and it will purge it from all further desire for a continuance of the "change."

Representative Richardson, a Tennessee Democrat, has introduced a radi-cal income tax bill in the House. He proposes to tax 2 per cent. on $3000 to $5000; 5 per cent. on $6000 to $10,000; 10 on $10,000 to $20,000; 15 on $20,0000 to $30,000; 20 on $30,000 to $50,000; 30 or $50,000 to $100,000, and 40 on all over $100,000. This cumulative system of taxation contains, as we have frequently remarked, an essence of justice, but is contrary to the spirit of our laws which say that taxation shall be equal. The trouble is that as a rule it is not even equal. If it could be assured that the wealthy classes would pay their just taxes or the full amount of their property, there would be no need for an enact-ment of any additional laws on the subject. As to the income tax, it is subject. As to the income tax, it is one which is unpopular wherever it has been introduced, and would be specially repugnant to Americans. It specially repugnant to Americans. would also undoubtedly lead to a vast amount of direct and implied perjury Let the taxes be impartially assess and their payment enforced without fear or favor. That is about all the re-form we need in this direction.

Senator Peffer has introduced a bill to establish a department of educa-tion. Education is certainly an important subject. But we ought not to stop here. The mind depends largely upon the body, and the condition of the upon the body, and the condition of the body depends largely on the character of the food which is consumed. It is said that the massacre of St. Bartholomew would never have occurred had not the French king been afflicted with habitual constipation. Probably he had a poor cook. Many orimes might be traced to dyspense. crimes might be traced to dyspepsia.
Why not, then, have a department of cookery, to teach people how to prepare their food properly? There would, of course, be subdivisions, such as the division of doughnuts, the division of pork and beans, etc., with experts at the head of each department. This idea might be incor-porated in Senator Peffer's bill as an

The Fresno Spectator, which is published in a region where anti-Chinese feeling has run high, has the following sensible remarks on the subject:

"The Spectator is anti-Chinese. For eight months we have studied the question carefully. We have learned enough to know that the Chinese cannot all be moved in a month, or a year. Many things must be adjusted that justice may be done to all. The sudden removal of all the Chinese might be a benefit to white labor, but in many cases it might be a

Details of a stupendous deal, backed by the Standard Oil Company, have just come to light. It involves ninetenths of the product of the Bessemer iron mines of this country and Cuba, and will be known as the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines. The oil yet, but it is working that way with much persistence, and may accomplish its purpose before long, unless it should run up against a snag.

Now that there is considerable talk about cholera, attention should be again called to the fact that there is no danger in eating fruit during cholera times any more than at any other time, pro-vided the fruit is ripe, fresh and clean. On the contrary, the acids of fruit tend to place the stomach in good dition to withstand disease.

Ex-Speaker Reed put it very correctly when he said that the Democratic party had been "lifted from the low level of criticism to the high level of responsi-bility." That lift has thrown the whole country into the bogs of depression, while the party itself has only staggered along that higher level.

ATTRACTION TONIGHT .- "The Rivals," in which Mrs. John Drew, Jo-seph Jefferson, the late W. J. Florence and other distinguished players have "carved out clean honors" and earned many dollars, will be presented by the Old Comedy Company at the Los Angeles Theater tonight.

Brinsley Sheridan wrote "The Rivals" in two months, and it was first brought out at the Garden Theater, London, on January 17, 1775. The first performance was spoiled, we are told, by the bad acting of O'Trigger, but when a com-Ing of O'Trigger, but when a competent player was cast in the role the comedy rose at once into that high region of public favor where it has continued to foat buoyantly and gracefully ever since. No one has ever attempted to compute the shillings, pounds and dollars that have been received from productions of "The Rivals." They are greater than any man of the present day can find out, and many fortunes have been made with it. Modern authors and managers would, no doubt, be pleased if a small fraction of their productions were only as successful as "The Rivals."

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Quall Scason.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—(To the Editor of The Times.) I notice in this morning's issue of The Times H. R. W. complains about the violation of the quall law. If H. R. W. will look up the State game law he will find out that the open season for quall in this county commences September 1, and anyone can shoot quail at the present time without violating the law. I understand that the supervisors of Oratige county have changed the date from September 1 to September 15, but have not been reliably informed as to the correctness of the report.

Irrigation Bonds. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—(To the Editor of The Times.) It seems very necessary that at the coming session of the Irrigation Congress, October 10-necessary that at the coming session of the Irrigation Congress, October 1015, a united effort of all interested parties should be made to secure an early decision by the Supreme Court of the United States as to the constitutionality of the Wright act and its amendments. We had in the State of California in January, 1893, thirty-eight irrigation districts, nineteen of which had voted bonds to the amount of $12,000,000. This is about $600,000 to each district. The remaining districts, about thirty at the present time, have probably an average of $250,000 each, making a total of about $20,000,000; and while about one-half of this amount has been expended for water rights, etc., it is probable almost the entire amount is now awaiting purchasers. These bonds cannot be sold until investors are satisfied that the security is beyond question. Many of the districts have exchanged bonds for pipe, water, construction, etc., and have been unable to sell the remainder of their issue for the necessary cash to complete the systems.

The land owners in the districts in many cases are now being assessed for interest and expenses before having received any benefits, and unless the different systems can soon be com-

Because there was no work for them, fundreds of idle men in Denver have become tramps, and because hundreds more, not tramps, were clamorous for work, the municipal authorities decided to go ahead with some public improvements, offering $1.40 a day as wages. Many jumped at the opportunity, and at once rolled up their sleeves and began swinging the pick and shovel. A gang of idle Italians, however, were not satisfied with the price paid for the service, and demanded that the workmen quit, and because they refused, made a murderous assault on them. Still the ships from Italy continue to land their loads of undesirable freight, the Mafia members and breeders of bloody riots.

TECHNICAL VIOLATION

James Ashman's Dealings With the City.

Member of the School Board, but He Sup plied the Street and Fire Depart-ments With Bran and Barley.

It now looks as if the office of mem ber of the Board of Education now held by James Ashman must be de-clared vacant, that is, if the city charter is to be strictly enforced.

Mr. Ashman is in the milling business, and for the past seven business, and for the past seven months, while he has been a member of the school board, has been supplying the street and fire departments of the city with a considerable portion of the barley and bran used for feeding the horses. The feed has been purchased by requisitions presented by the heads of those departments, and duly approved by the City Council. These requisitions were in due time These requisitions were in due time each attached to a demand, and accord-ing to the usual custom, the demands were formally approved by the Council.

ing to the usual custom, the demands were formally approved by the Council. After being approved by the Mayor and the City Auditor they were presented at the city treasury, where the money was collected on them.

Several weeks ago bids for supplying barley and bran were advertised for, and Mr. Ashman chanced to be the lowest bidder. The Council instructed the City Attorney to apresent a contract with Mr. Ashman for furnishing the feed, but the City Auditor informed the attorney that Mr. Ashman was a member of the Board of Education, and therefore could not enter into a contract with the City. The City Attorney reported accordingly to the Council, and that body therefore did not enter into the contract with Mr. Ashman.

At last Monday's meeting of the Council, one of the demands presented was by Mr. Ashman for $17.55 for barley and bran. One of the members inquired if this was not the Mr. Ashman of the Board of Education, and asked for an explanation.

Some other m. mber stated that the barley and bran. One of the members inquired if this was not the Mr. Ashman of the Board of Education, and asked for an explanation.

Some other m.mber stated that the feed was purchased by requisition instead of by contract, and, this explanation appearing to be satisfactory, the demand was approved, together with the others. The same demand was approved by the Mayor, and is now in the hands of the City Auditor.

While it appears that there was not even a suspicion of crookedness about this and similar purchases from Mr. Ashman by the heads of departments, yet there seems to be no doubt that this, as well as the other like transactions, was in direct violation of the city charter.

The fact that an article of merchandise having at least some value is turned over to the possession of another. party with the understanding that at a later time some valuable considered, and, in fact, is by the latter is considered, and, in fact, is by the law recognized to be just as much a contract as if the agreement for the exchange of values were in the form of a written document. Hence, for Mr. Ashman to sell to the city, a quantity of feed, with the understanding that he is in due time to receive payment for the same from the city, is, in the eyes of the law, as well as in fact, a contract between Mr. Ashman and the city.

Section 3 of the city charter, in enumerating the officers of the municipality, gives as one of them, "One member of the Board of Education from each ward."

Section 18 of the city charter says: "No councilman or other city officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract to which the city is a party, or made by any officer of the city inhehalf of the city.

"Any violation of this section shall be imposed by a court of competent burisdiction, the Council shall declare the office vacant, and any person convicted of a violation of this section shall be imposed by a court of competent burisdiction, the Council shall declare the officer vacant, and any person convicted of a violation of this

THE STATE TAX RATE

Still Being Discussed in Sacramento.

Chagrin Over the Failure to Raise the Assessment.

Chairman Moorehouse Very Much Annoyed.

Mr. Hebbron Explains His Position-Why the Heavy Increase in the Rate Was Made Absolutely

The members of the State Board of Equalization, or rather Chairman Moorehouse and Mr. Beamer, are still airing their grievances, and explaining why they wanted San Francisco and Los Angeles raised. The San Fran-cisco Examiner of Wednesday pub-lishes the following from its Sacramento correspondent:

Chairman Moorehouse and Mr Beamer are chagrined over the fail ure to raise the San Francisco assess ment roll 25 per cent. and the roll of Los Angeles 15 per cent. They are hopping mad and make no attempt to conceal their feelings. They now vow vengeance against the other members of the Board of Equalization, espe-cially Mr. Hebbron, who was sharply led by Mr. Swan into voting as he did Messrs. Moorehouse and Beamer de clare openly that it was nothing but politics that actuated the majority of the board to refuse to raise the Los Angeles and San Francisco rolls.

politics that actuated the majority of the board to refuse to raise the Los Angeles and San Francisco rolls.

"I honestly believe," says Moorehouse, "that the two cities should have been raised, and the other members think so, too, but they are afraid of their constituents. We have a wagon load of data up at the Capitol to prove that those two cities have been getting the best of the State right along. I don't believe in truckling to anybody. I am serving my third term in office, and I haven't lost anything so far by being square."

Mr. Hebbron, who is now the object o Chairman Mooreshouse's wrath, said to the Examiner reporter tonight: "Los Angeles has raised her roll from the Assessor's returns of 1892 4½ per cent. A raise of 8 per cent. would have made it a little over what the State board left it last year with the State board left it lost year of 1892 nearly $4,000,000, and a raise of 20 per cent. would have made the valuation less than it was last year after a 20 per cent. raise. This would have been an injustice to Los Angeles, therefore I moved to make it 7½ per cent. I opposed the proposition to raise Los Angeles 10 per cent. from $42,000,000, the San Francisco roll, would make it still more out of proportion. I would not submit to that kind of equalization. Twenty-one counties, most of them north of the bay, have reduced their valuation this year, but every motion to raise a single one was defeated, and if any injustice has been done it has been done by those who have determined to make one prominent county of the State bear more than its jus

I think likely it was true, as it was impossible to carry a motion to raise a single county north of the bay. I have endeavored to do my duty to the State. If I have not been able to accomplish this I have done the next best thing. I never allowed politics or policy to warp my judgment or interfere whatever in my duty to the State. With regard to being afraid of my constituents, my vote on previous occasions to raise the bcuntles in my district, when I thought it was right, shows whether I had the courage to carry out my convictions."

Messrs. Hebbron, Colgan and Swan today received the following telegram from Los Angeles:

from Los Angeles:
"The Citizens' League desires to thank you for your hearty support against the unjust attempts to raise valuations in this county."

The league is composed of the solid men of Los Angeles.

The State tax rate of 57 cents and 6 men of Los Angeles.

The State tax rate of 57 cents and 6 mills was the topic of discussion in the capital today. One official said that he did not see what Los Angeles would gain by the Board of Equalization not raising that county's and San Francisco's rolls. A 15 cent raise of the San Francisco's rolls, and a 7½ per cent. of Los Angeles would have reduced the tax rate at least 3 per cent. which in the long run Los Angeles would have received the benefit of.

Chairman Mathews of the Ways and Means Committee of the last Assembly was at the Capitol today, where he had a long talk with Gov. Markham regarding the State rate.

To the Examiner correspondent, Mr. Mathews said: "It was impossible for the Legislature or the Governor to have kept within the 50-cent limit. The previous Legislature failed to provide for the payment of $400,000 in deficiencies, which the Legislature of 1893 was compelled to meet by making the necessary appropriations. The Legislature of 1891 did this in order to keep within the 50-cent limit."

Mr. Mathews also said that the Tax Levy Bill was based on the valuations of 1892. It was thought that the valuations of 1893 would be about the same, if not more. As this did not turn out to be the case, a high tax rate is the result. Mr. Mathews believes that the tax rate next year will be much less, if not below 50 cents, for the reason that the State will have $1,000,000 less to raise next year.

thereof, besides the penalty that may be imposed by a court of competent jurisdiction, the Council shall declare the office vacant, and any person convicted of a violation of this section, shall be forever disqualified from holding any office under this charter. From the above-quoted sections of the city charter, it will be seen that the school board, is a city officer. Having while a member of the Board of Education entered into a contract with the case of the city charter, it will be seen that the same was a contract.

By another provision of section 18 of the charter, for the reason that his having entered into an implied contract does not in the least alter the fact that the same was a contract.

By another provision of section 18 of the charter, it will be seen that it now becomes the duty of the City Council to declare the office yeacht.

SOCIAL RECORD. IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

A social gathering of the teachers of the Methodist Chinese Sunday-school occurred at the residence of the superintendent, Mrs. H. A. Birdsall, No. 206 West Twenty-fourth street, on Wednesday, from 2 to 5 p.m. A lawn party had been planned, but owing to the chilly air the guests found the vertardas and parlors more attractive. The decorations were somewhat severe, as the Chinese colors, red and yellow, prevalled. Some of the teachers, who were from New York, had their hearts gladdened by the regal golden rod and the maidenhair fern of their native State, grown on California soil from Eastern plants.

After discussing the interests of the cause they represented from a religious, political and social standpoint, Chinese souvenirs were presented, after which ice-cream and cake were served. Mrs. Birdsall was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. F. Colds.

The invited guests were Mmes. Bradley, Jamison, Adams, Lovewell, Fisher, Wheeler, Hahneman, Caswell; Misses Freeman, Carrie Adams, Webb, Swan, Graham, Power.

ADAMS-HARMON. Miss Edith L. Harmon and G. P. Adams were married at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, at the residence of the bride's parents, at University, by Rev. Dr. Campbell of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. Only immediate Felatives were present. A wedding supper followed. The happy couple will reside in their beautiful new home on Thirty-nuch street.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

The Regular Weekly Bulletin for Southern Following is the weather and crop bulletin of the Southern California Weather Service for the week ending September 4: The first part of the week was coole

The first part of the week was cooler than the seasonal averages, with damp, cloudy mornings; the latter part was clear with the temperature ranging considerably above the normals. Rain fell Saturday in the eastern districts, being quite heavy in some places in Riverside county. A severe thunder storm occurred at Riverside, attended by hall. No damage was reported to drying fruit or grain from the rain.

The fruit market continued without noticeable change; drying continues The fruit market continued without noticeable change; drying continues briskly, mostly by growers, on account of the low prices offered for fresh fruit. An exchange says that the report of the government statistician just received, shows good reasons for expecting that prices for products shall improve. This is especially the case with fruit. The tables show but a single item in one of the smallest States where the production is equal to the average. If the total of the dried and canned fruit is as greatly below the normal yield as the government report indicates, then when there is a restoration of confidence and money begins to circulate, there should be an improvement in demand and prices. Detailed no market yet for the crop. Walnuts are beginning to ripen.

San Luis Obispo: The mornings were cloudy and the days warm. Bean pullers are in demand; the crop is good. Grain is very low.

Ventura county—Bardsdale: Fruit-drying continues. Twenty dollars offered for fresh prunes. A heavy thunder shower passed east of here on the 2d; we had a trace of rain. Covina: The first few days of the week were cool, with foggy mornings, the remaining days were warm and suitry, with rain in the mountains. Fruit-drying continues. Prunes are turning out well.

ing days were warm and suitry, with rain in the mountains. Fruit-drying continues. Prunes are turning out well.

San Bernardino county —Ontario: The shower which was general in this section on Saturday, did not reach here; merely a sprinkle fell. Work has well begun on gathering the prune crop, which is heavy, and of a fine quality. Most growers will dry, as but $20 is offered for the fresh fruit. Chino: A trace of rain fell Saturday evening. Fifteen thousand tons of sugar-beets have been harvested, averaging 14 to 15 per cent. sugar. The weather has been favorable for ripening beets on account of the absence of fogs. Rediands: The rain of Friday night did but little, if any damage in this vicinity. Fruit-drying is brisk, and a heavy crop will be cured: more than was anticipated. The honey yield is unusually large. Grapes are very prolific.

Riverside county—Riverside: Grapes are ripening quite fast, and in some of the vineyards in the lower part of the valley, will be ripe enough for picking by the middle of September. Moreno: Threshing continues in the valley, and the crops will not all be harvested for two or three weeks. The sheep men shipped two carloads of wool from Alessandro last week. Winchester: Our commodious warehouses are full, and but little of our large crop is stored away. Hemet: The roller mill is now turning out a superior quality of family flour. Large quantities of barley are rolled here and shipped to points in Arizona principally. Peaches and nectarines are plentful, and are mostly being dried. Elsinore: Threshing continues. Apricots have been sold at 7½ to 8 cents a pound.

Orange county — Anaheim: The corn crop is being harvested, and promises to be a fair yield. Peaches are being dried by growers to a small extent; part of the crop is going to waste. Walnuts are being contracted for; the crop will be slightly short. Beets are being shipped regularly. Santa Ana: The wineries in Orange county will commence work in a few days. The grape crop is a large one in a few days. The grape crop is a large one.

San Diego county—Escondido: The past week the Santa Fe company has been pushed for rolling stock to move the grain on the Escondido division. A large quantity of wheat is being shipped from Vista. Valley Center There is an extra large crop of honey in this section this year. San Diego city: Grape picking began today (Monday) on some of the small places. Many will not make raisins this year; prefer selling fresh; some will feed grapes to hogs, as there is more money in that. The fruit market is without notable change; receipts continue heavy and prices are very weak. Some extra fine peaches from El Cajon and Poway valleys are held firm at highest quotations.

JUST HOW TO DO IT.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.)

There is just one way to accomplish the right sort of great sleeves. The fullness of the desired puff above the elbow is from the elbow down drawn into a series of tiny tucks that runside by side from elbow to wrist. This sounds easy, but when you consider that three yards wide is none too much to allow for the fullness above, it becomes a question for an inspired modiste to grapple with, to get rid of all these little tucks without creating an ugly bunch. The question is not so serious a one when chiffon is used, but when the effect is carried out in crisp lawn and dimity, it is more than the most home dressmakers are equal to. The elegant tollet shown is made of red and green changeable silk figured with white, and is trimmed with white satin and two kinds of lace. One of these is a plain white lace, the other has a white ground and colored design. A good and novel way to cetain the latter is to take firm white lace and paint the design with thin water colors, taking care to have the colors used harmonize with the dress, or the effect would be too gaudy. The skirt is lined with alpaca, and is garnished with two black satin ruchings each three inches in width. The bodice has a square yoke of white satin in front, covered at either end with white lace, while a strip of gathered silk tulle comes in the center. Attached to the yoke are two loose ends that overlap each other, the space at the top being filled in with painted lace as shown. The portion of the bodice which comes beneath the belt is made of white satin, covered with the painted lace, and the standing collar is of the same material, covered with the other lace. The ends that form the overlapping fronts continue over the shoulders to the back and make the equalettes. The belt is that form the overlapping fronts con-tinue over the shoulders to the back and make the epaulettes. The belt is of black satin ribbon. FLORETTE.

A DRESS AND SOME POINTERS.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.) Now that white wash waists are to be worn all the coming season, the girls may spend their silk skirt money on caramels. Fichu effects are more and more elaborate. One of the pretty new things is a pair of very big ruffed sleeves, which are connected by a pointed low-necked piece in the back, and cross over in front. The latter tie in the back over the point and are finished all around with a little ruffle that stands out stiffly just below the belt line. Of course, the bodice with which such a kerchief is worn must be perfectly plain, but remember that perfectly plain these days always includes big sleeves.

Dark brown woolen suiting is used for the skirt, and sleeveless jacket of the costume pictured, and scarlet silk, both plain and brocaded for the blouse. The skirt has three flounces, covering its whole length, and giving it the appearance of a triple skirt. The jacket extends some length below the waist, and has revers and deep wavy collar piped with scarlet silk. The full blouse has a pleated plastron of brocaded silk, edged with either scarlet or gilt lace. Standing collar and gauntlet cuffs are of brocaded silk, the latter edged top and bottom with lace. The belt, which is of brown satin ribbon, ties at the side with several loops and long ends.

Insertion is seen everywhere. Rows of it elaborate hosiery and long gloves. To guard against the thrift that would lengthen a too short glove by home application of the insertion idea, the lace is "made so" and has no seam, But who is going to notice if you put the seam in the right place? The insertion is made to run from just above the wrist to the top of the glove, It is a great idea for the glove grown too narrow. But again, the glove orfered for sale shows the insertion made so again, and starting in long points at the wrist. Still, the really clever needle woman can accomplish this, though for most women the fashion would be gone by long before they could get one glove done.

Sdy Verdict of "Not Guilty" Render Routine Business in Department One-New Suits-Court Notes.

T Ross rape case, which has been on al during the last two days be-forludge Pierce in Department One of s Superior Court, came to an abor close yesterday afternoon. After therosecution had finished its case, Jud Pierce cleared his throat and addesed the jury. He said the charge of pe was a terrible one to bring aget any man, and that from the vernature of such cases the direct evice is usually limited to that of thewo persons implicated. There-forms said, the law has been hedged witsuch provisions that much discrea may be used in protecting peo-ple bm false, malicious or unfounded chass. It is the duty of the court not allow an unjust verdict even if broth in by a jury, and, if upon the close the prosecution, such evidence has been produced as would continithe court of the accused's guilt themes the duty of the court to so It temes the duty of the court to so adult the jury. In this case the precution had to rely solely on the evence of the girl, as she was not cooborated in any material point. Citinuing, Judge Pierce said it was a jost heinous charge to make against at man, and from the evidence so far psented he was convinced that there at no grounds for believing Ross glty, and should a jury, on the same effence, bring in a verdict of guilty, howould be constrained by his oath of occ to set such verdict aside. The cirt mentioned that the jury was not hind to take his advice, but suggested at they canvass the matter among timelves.

The girl, Eloida Vignes, was again laced on the stand yesterday morning and contradicted her testimony of the lay before in some important particulars. She stated that her stepfather.
Plementson, kept a saloon and dancelouse in San Pedro, but that she had lever been in the saloon during dances incept when she took clam-chowder ihere, which was prepared by her mother. She also admitted knowing several girls of bad repute.

After the girl left the stand she walked into the adjoining room and brought in her baby. Objection was made, and Judge Pierce ordered the child taken out of the courtroom.

Nellie Conner was the next witness.
She sald she had been a schoolmate of the Vignes girl, and that on the day of the alleged assault she met Eloide, who told her that Ross had carried her into an outhouse and had torn her dress.

Other witnesses were 'examined, but no corroborative evidence of a substantial character was obtained.
Clementson was placed on the stand, and admitted that he had approached Ross and offered to keep the matter quiet for $1000.

The following paper was then placed in evidence:

"SAN PEDRO, Feb. 16, 1883."

"In the matter of a claim of rape said to have been committed by D. C.
Ross upon the person of Eloida Vignes,
I, Charles Clementson, as the guardian and legal protector of the said Eloida Vignes, do hereby agree to accept the sum of $1000 in full for all damage and disgrace, and I further agree to suppress and keep the matter quiet. The said sum of $1000 is to be paid as follows: $500 cash this day, and $500 in thirty days from date.

After Clementson left the stand, the prosecution announced its case as closed. Judge Pierce then addressed the Jury and the verdict was rendered as above.

SOMF SOUND LAW.

In an opinion received yesterday

SOME SOUND LAW.

SOME SOUND LAW.

In an opinion received yesterday from the Supreme Court by Deputy Clerk Sesnon, it is ordered that judgment in the case of Charles Townsend, respondent, vs. J. S. Briggs, appellant, be reversed, and that a new trial be granted.

The action was to recover damages for personal injuries caused by an alleged wrongful and malicious assault made by defendant upon the person of plaintiff. The jury rendered a verdict of $9000 damages for plaintiff. It seems that Briggs, who is 60 years old, in bad health and subject to hemorrhages of the luings, was in partnership with a man named Leach, in the manufacture of certain machinery for pitting fruit. One day Townsend, who is 47 years of age, and weighs 170 pounds, came into the shop of Briggs & Leach, in Ventura, and began to meddle violently with some machinery. It is alleged that Townsend was "fighting drunk" at the time. Briggs, who was in a rear room, came out, attracted by the noise, and ordered Townsend, in a peremptory manner, "to let the machines alone," and to leave the premises. Townsend did not leave, and a wrangle ensued. Briggs finally picked up a mallet and struck Townsend on the head. Townsend was staggered by the blow, and, it is supposed, slipped on some fruit pits or skins on the floor and fell on the knife of one of the machines. He brought suit in the Ventura Superior Court, and a jury awarded him $9000 damages.

Court. and a Jury awarded him $9000 damages.

The Supreme Court, in reviewing the course of the lower court, plainly intimates that it erred in admitting certain testimony and rejecting other evidence. The higher court repeats the well-known axiom that "every man's house is his castle," and he is allowed to use reasonable force to protect himself and his property. It was shown that Briggs was, physically, much inferior in strength to Townsend, and his using a mallet was in the nature of supplying this deficiency. The judgment of the lower court is therefore reversed, and a new trial ordered.

Court Notes.

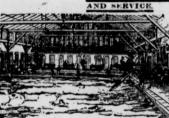

A please of Matthew Currey to plead to the charge of robbery was continued by Judge Pierce in Department One until October 1.

In Justice Bartholomew's court J. H. Rocha, the defendant in a suit for assault, was discharged. The whole thing seems to be a neighborhood quarrel and the charge grew out of a fight between some young boys.

J. N. Glenn, an insane man, recently released from the Stockton asylum, and who was thought to have been cure, was yesterday again examined before Judge Pierce. He was ordered committed to the Highlands asylum. Alfred Pearson, a native of Sweden, was yesterday admitted to citizenship

A youthful burglar, who gave his name as Burt L. Starr, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Auble and yesterday by Detectives Auble and Benson and Sergt. McKeag.
The young man, who is evidently not more than 19 or 20 years of age, is charged with stealing eight and one-half rolls of leather, valued at $60, from the Whittier Shoe Factory. He sold the leather to James Gillen, the manager of the Alhambra Shoe Factory, for $9.25.
After being arrested yesterday the young man was turned over to the constable from Whittier, to which place he was taken for trial.

Drove Through a Car Window.

An electric car accident occurred yesterday afternoon on Upper Main street. A draft team was being driven alongside an electric car going north. A man driving a single horse was coming from the opposite direction, and tried to drive between the car and the team. He was unsuccessful in this attempt, and the head of his horse broke through the glass window at the front end of the car. The animal's head and neck were cut in a frightful manner in a number of places.

are now on sale; you know what the Butterick Patterns are. Let us say another word about Dress Goods, Silks and Velvets; heliotrope shading, from a light lilac up to a royal purple; this includes a range of shadings seven to ten in number. The old-fashioned majentas are colors that are once more new, and they are beautiful compared with the majentas of a few years ago; you should see them in Velvets and Silks, and when combined into illuminated effects they are most striking. Our Dress Goods Department now is the best we have ever had it. Take a look at the north double show window; this is only an insight into the largest silk assortment we have ever shown; it is the most striking display of silk novelties ever shown in this city. Don't imagine high prices for these artistic styles; they are reasonable in price. Note the queer combinations and the beautiful blendings. When have the styles been more beautiful than at present? Go from the north to big double show window at the south of the entrance; here are Wool Dress Goods and Velvets displayed in all the new shadings. Styles run this season to colors and not to laud, fancy patterns. Woolens are combined with silks or velvets or both; this gives display to the dressmakers' ability and your own judgment in taste in selecting combinations. Anything in greens holds good for another season; browns, tans and blues are equally as good.

The styles run more to silks and velvets to help out the plainness; rainbow effects, pencil points and iridescents are the newest. Crystaline Silks and Velvets-variegated —they are new. The Cloak room has more new goods, more new styles. This season you should use the utmost care in making your selections; buy new styles-avoid the old with narrow skirts and small sleeves. The skirts are full this season, the sleeyes are larger and the display of velvets on nearly all of the cloaks gives them a striking ap-

Death of One of the City's Distinguished Citizens.

An Officer Attempts to Arrest a Dummy Facts on the Paving Matter-Personal Notes and Thursday's Times contained a brief announcement of the death of Col. Presley C. Baker, which occurred at his residence, on South Orange Grove avenue, early Wednesday evening. The deceased was in the 56th year of his age. Death resulted from Bright's dis-ease, from which he had long been a sufferer. His illness, however, had not onfined him to the house many weeks, and the news of his death was i sad shock to his many friends. Col. Baker first came to Pasadena confined him to the

During the war he served with distinction, at the head of a regiment from that State, and it is that the hardships endured believed that the hardships endured during his connection with the army had much to do with undermining his health. He later removed to Gaiveston, Tex., where he soon sprung into prominence as an attorney of note. In the practice of his profession he attained eminent distinction, and was widely known among the legal fraternity throughout the East.

nity throughout the East.

Col. Baker came to Pasadena for the benefit of his health. During his resibenefit of his health. During his residence here he engaged in no active business. He became the possessor of one of the most desirable residence sites in town, where was completed, during the past year, one of the handsomest homes in the State. In his sudden taking off, Pasadena loses one of her most distinguished citizens. A man of exceptional intellectual and social attainments, a scholar and a gentleman withal, he commanded the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. Possessed of ample means, he was enabled to surround himself with such home comforts and luxuries as his tastes dicpie means, ne was enacied to surround himself with such home comforts and luxuries as his tastes dictated, and it was at his home that he

ONE ON OFFICER ORR.

Some one fixed up a dummy on Thursday and laid him by the side of the Santa Fe track, in the rear of Morgan's stable. The dummy was ingeniously constructed, and looked very much like an ordinary drunk. Councilinan Clarke was given the tin and diman Clarke was given the tip, and hinted to Councilman Cox that it he hinted to Councilman Cox that it might be a good scheme to have one of the officers go down and arrest the offender. Councilman Cox thought it would be a very good scheme, indeed, whereupon Councilman Clarke proceeded to look around for one of the faithful guardians of the page. Confaithful guardians of the page. Confaithful guardians of the page. Confaithful guardians of the page. ceeded to look around for one of the faithful guardians of the peace. Constable Slater was first found. He said he would make the arrest, but beforehe had reached the dummy, some one had put him onto the racket. Then he returned, and, meeting officer Orr, he turned the case over to him. The last-named official headed straight for the resting-place of the supposed drunk, and it was not until he had reached the spot that he realized that it was all a joke. It is related that, at this Juncture, Officer Orr didn't say much, but that his countenance was suggestive of deep and vexatious mensuggestive of deep and vexatious men-tal strife, as he wended his way up-town with the "horse" laugh of a small crowd of spectators ringing in ble cars.

POINTS ON PAVING.

Some important points relative to the paving matter will come up for setthe paying matter will come up for set-tlement at the Council meeting on Mon-day. Among other things to be discussed will be the paving of the intersections of Colorado street with Raymond and Fair Oaks avenues, which are now provided for in the specifications under which the contract has been awarded. It has been suggested that this, be done by assessing the property-owners in the immediate vicinity, but the more popular plan seems to be to do the work at public expense, in which connection the hint has been thrown out that this would be a very desirable purpose to which to donate the $3000 forfeited by the Perine Paving Company of San Fransections of Colorado street with Ray ine Paving Company of San cisco. Another matter to be discisco. Another matter to be discussed will be the proposed tearing up and relaying of the Colorado-street car track. Part of the way the track is not laid in the middle of the street, and it is desired to remedy this mistake. PASADENA BREVITIES.

A Jail Delivery Frustrated-Flora's Speed-General Notes.

Sheriff Broughton and Marshal Hop-kins neatly foiled a daring jail de-livery Tuesday night. Late Monday kins neatly foiled a daring jail delivery Tuesday night. Late Monday night Jailer Arelianes of the County Jail heard a scraping noise on the north wall of the jail at about the place where the steel cells or cages are. He thought little of it, but when he mentioned it to Sheriff Boughton, a watch was put on the spot, the noise continuing two or three hours. Late Tuesday night it began again, Marshal Hopkins and Sheriff Broughton being on the watch. The scraping sound got nearer and nearer, first one brick dropped and then another, and then the head of J. T. Nash, committed from Santa Ynez, and awaiting trial on a charge of burgiary, appeared out of the opening. He was surprised to see the officers, and with his fellow-workman, a petty larceny inmate, named Jack Robinson, was nabbed quicker than he could say his companion's name. The men will be prosecuted under a charge of malicious mischief, and were bound over to the Superior Court on Wednesday morning. From the hole they made with rude tools of a short, bent plece of iron, and two broom handles, there was a drop of twenty-five feet to the ground and a twenty-foot fence to scale, but had they got to the ground they would undoubtedly have escaped, and let all the other prisoners out.

Authorities After the Dives and Disreputable Houses.

Arrest of Three Chinamen at Redlands-"Smoothy" Livermore Given a Long Term in the County Jail.

The lives of the keepers of houses of rostitution in San Bernardino do not te in such smooth lines as at one time. Their liberties are being curtime. Their liberties are being cur-tailed in many ways, and the moral sentiment of the city is turning against them at a rapid rate. Their establish-ments are now confined within re-stricted limits in one quarter of the city, and their demonstrations may now be made only at the risk of coming into the clutches of the law. But their hameless business is yet conducted in all too open a manner, though the number of those who are indifferent to or unhold them in their calling is cer-tainly becoming less. Still other re-strictions are being drawn about them, strictions are being drawn about them, the first move in this direction being made on Thursday, when five of the proprietresses of houses of ill-fame were arrested for selling liquor without a license. The officers have been at work upon this line for quite a while, and have now accumulated a lot of evidence. Feeling certain of a conviction, the whole batch was pulled on Thursday, and released on bail of $50 each, to appear today at 10 o'clock for trial. It was a great surprise to them to be brought up on such a charge. Selling poor beer at $1 a bottle is one of the chief sources of revenue enjoyed by these women, and if it should be cut off by the law, or they be compelled to pay a retail liquor license, they will feel the reduction in their income.

At the session of the county super-visors on Wednesday, another impor-tant step in county legislation was At the session of the county supervisors on Wednesday, another important step in county legislation was taken, in preparing an ordinance for the furtherance of temperance. The object of the ordinances is to do away with the dives and low restaurant business, such as furnish a couple a crackers and a piece of cheese, calling it a meal in order to sell a bottle of beer or some other liquors. The proposed ordinance will restrict the privilege of furnishing liquors to guests with meals to hotels having no less than thirty rooms, and will apply to all the county. One of the greatest curses this county has had to endure has been these dives and so-called restaurants, selling vile liquors, and which it is the aim of the board to eradicate by enacting and securing the enforcement of this ordinance. REDLANDS.

Redlands rejoices. The work of removing the Chinese in a legal manner is begun, so that all may see it, and the banter of some that it is all talk, and would end in talk, is put to naught. At an early hour on Thurs-day morning Deputy United States Marshal James Faris arrived from San day morning Deputy United States Marshal James Faris arrived from San Bernardino, having carefully tucked away in his pocket warrants from the District Court for the arrest of twelve Chinese, for the violation of the Geary act, in failing to register. The warrants were mostly for those Chinese known to have employment, the object in taking these being to make places for unemployed whites, and to take away the help from those who persist in giving employment to the element to rid the country of which such an effort is being made.

At 11 o'clock the officers returned from the ranches in the southern part of the city with three Chinamen under arriest in the carriage, Immediately there was a grand rush to the streets. Stores and dwellings were emptied of their occupants in a twinkling, for every one wanted to see that the arrests had really been made, and to see how John appeared to take it. As they sat in the carriage their countenances bore no evidence of excitement or regret. They sat motionless, with a sort of gloomy indifference. One, however, did break down, weeping, when arrested. The three were taken to the City Jail, followed by a great crowd and the officers departed to make other arrests. In the evening all were taken to the County Jail at San Bernardino for the night, to be taken to Los Angeles today (Friday) for trial.

"SMOOTHY" SENTENCED.

"SMOOTHY" SENTENCED. Redlands is to be congratulated upon Redlands is to be congratulated upon having such a man presiding in the Recorder's Court as Judge Camp, a man who is just and fearless to do his duty as he sees it. Just now the citizens are commending him for his action in giving Clarence Livermore such a good sentence. It seems that when "Smoothy" Livermore was brought before Judge Camp for sentence on Thursday he had expected to appeal the case. But when he was shown his blankets and other effects he "cowed down" at once. He mainhe "cowed down" at once. He main-tained all the time that he had been living in a house in a proper manner.

Things that seem to help Catarrh may be doing harm. Poisonous, irritating snuffs and strong, caustic solutions only drive it from the head to the lungs. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures Catarrh. It's mild, soothing, cleaning, healing. Its proprietors promise $500 or a cure.

But the officers located his hiding place under the Lugonia Congregational Church, and among the effects found there were articles he had been seen wearing, and a fine pair of "sneak" shoes. He would have pleaded guilty had he been aware of the fact that his place of abode was known to the officers. In view of the evidence against "Smoothy" Judge Camp sentenced him to 100 days in the County Jall: It appears that he is very well known to the officers throughout Southern California as a very sleek rascal. 'He sald he did not wish to be locked up where the Chinamen would be put, but he was in the County Jail when the first installment of Celestials were put in to be his companions. But he will not have an opportunity to incite riot against them for quite a while.

POMONA.

Dastardly Attempt at Rape by a Drunker

Brute.

There is considerable excitement in this city over the dastardly attempt to rape the five-year-old daughter of J. H. Moore, a highly-respectable citizen of Pomona. The deed was attempted by a big, burly brute, who gives his name as James Patterson. The officers tracked him on Wednesday afternoon from the place where he threw the lit-tle child down and attempted to rape her, to the winery of Nicholas Ferry, where he was arrested. On Wednes, day morning he was taken into court, and the following facts were brought

About 9 o'clock Patterson started out from the winery, where he had been stopping for two days, telling Ferry he was going out to see some women. He was under the influence of liquor. He was under the house of Mr. Bower. from the winery, where he had been stopping for two-days, telling Ferry he was going out to see some women. He was under the influence of liquor. He first went to the house of Mr. Bowermaster, on West Holt avenue. Miss Anna Bowermaster, a young lady 16 years of age, came to the door. He said something about work, and then pulled a bottle of wine from his pocket, asking her to take a drink with him. At the same time he grabbed her hand, but the young lady pulled away and shut the door in his face. He then went to the house of Mrs. L. Manzanares, on Hamilton avenue, near Holt. The lady is in a delicate condition, and scarcely able to walk; but this did not keep the brute from making indecent proposals to her. Not only this, but he tried to get two little Spanish girs to accompany him away from the house. The lady picked up a pistol and attempted to shoot the wretch, but he ran away. He then met little Pansy Moore going toward her father's house, and, according to the statements of the child, he begged her to go with him behind some high weeds, as he had something nice for her. The next known's, that the child came running home, her face and head bruised and bleeding, her underclothes torn, and her clothes covered with dust and mud. A visit was made to the spot indicated by the child, and the weeds were found mashed, and there were evidences of a struggle. The child said the man choked her, and explained what he tried to do. An examination showed that he did not succeed in his vile purpose. The tracks of the child and man were plainly discernible, and the father and grandfather of the child testified to the tracks being those of the child and man.

The testimony of all the parties is straightforward and bears the impress of truth, the evidence of Miss Anna Bowermaster and the Spanish lady being the strongest in the lot.

Patterson would make no statement beyond the information that he was innocent. City Attorney W. A. Bell consented to conduct the prosecution, in the absence of the District Attorney. F. O. Slanker me of the Types of Los Angeles Landladies.

"ROOMS TO LET."

A Woman in Search of Lodgings.

evelations That are Amusing to Say the Least.

nes on Both Sides, but the Happy is Wanted and What is

A Times reporter has for a fortnight past been making calls upon some of the keepers of "rooms to let." Cer-tain revelations are amusing, to say the least; and the fact is disclosed that if one wants actual comfort, not untidiness and not extravagance, at a reasonably fair figure, such accommodations are certainly limited in the city There are extremes both ways, but the happy medium is

In the first place, you are generally expected to sleep in one house and eat in another. It is the custom of the country, and a fashion that, to a great extent, rules the world. This may be partially accounted for by the fact that many genteel women with a desire to lengthen their purses, can play the hostess agreeably, but cannot or will not cook. Therefore, attractive rooms are found in many apartment houses, provided with home comforts, while the attractive home tables are few. Heaven save the cooks! for we all must eat. It is this demand which has given rise to so many delicatessen stores, where, for a comparatively small outlay, one may procure well-cooked meats, gravies, vegetables of all sorts, bread and rolls, fruit and desserts, which can be carried away, or, in most cases, eaten at tables in the store. Here one frequently finds pure milk and cream, and now and then coffee, "such as mother made." Some of the delicatessen achievements are works of high art, and the tiny individual ples, shining loaves of bread and cooky cupids are sufficient to lure some men into matrimony for the exquisite pleasure of carrying home those dainty creations and spreading them on a table for two, instead of sitting on a high stool before a luncheon counter and swallowing indiscriminate viands hastily.

If you are a woman in search of lodgings it depends entirely on your landlady whether you care for your own room or have it laken care of for you. If she has seen better days, and is keeping lodgers merely for company, and the pleasure she derives from it—usually at a sum in compensation not less than $15 a month for a furnished room in summer and $25 in winter—she is quite apt to remark, after you have said you would accommodate her and cast in your lot with hers: "On, by the way, I suppose you wn'rt mind taking care of your room yourself. I will hang the towels on the doorknob, and when you want to use a carpet sweeper or a dust brush you will find them in the closet at the end of the hall. I have never had any one object, dren? Oh. yes, I've got twelve. Fresh eggs and butter and cream? Dear me, no: I don't know where you can get those things. The milkman comes around, and there's a grocery up at the corner. The boys go twice a week; I guess they could get eggs. You think it won't suit? Well, now, I'm sorry. You could have been real comfortable, and you certainy do look peaked, as though you needed rest. It's only $2 a week, and it's got a feather bed, and I can put a washbowl and pitcher in if you don't want to go to the sink. There's a nice high window, too, that you can look out of by climbing in a chair. Good day."

On one occasion I was surprised by the woman of the house, a modest little body, asking me in a frightened tone before she would open the screen door, if I had a canary. She put the question in a sort of awed whisper, and I answered, subdued by her impressiveness until I could hardly speak: "No ma'am." She smiled and grew cordial; and then she explained to me that one she had a boarder who had a canary, and its mistress bathed it regularly every day in the bath-tub. Finally other boarders rebelled, and a woman of high tone and no attachments declared that she would not stay in a house where she had to bathe in the same tub with a bird! Since then the little woman always puts that question; and "no canary" is the password by which one gets into that house.

I one day found a charming place, high up on a hill. If I had been ready in the stay in a bouse.

I one day found a charming place, high up on a hill. If I had been ready to retire from newspaper service I should have engaged that $50 suite then, and there, and never have gone down to humdrum business life again. If I had owned that house, and had not needed boarders for company or consolation. $100 a month would have been no temptation to part with those delightful apartments. To be sure, I don't know where one could have eaten; there were no provisions for it in the house, and no eating house near. But I do know that the gods must provide food for persons who take lodgings, and I should not have hesitated.

The way in which I was "sized up" sometimes was positively terrible. At food for persons who take lodgings, and I should not have hesitated.

The way in which I was "sized up" sometimes was positively terrible. At one place I was advised that, as I looked kind of "pinched for funds," I might save a good sum if I would "go shares" with the schoolma'am, a nice sort of person, and "that lonesome she'd take up with most anybody for company." That same afternoon another would-be landlady informed me that she shouldn't think anybody so "scrumptious" as I would "haggle about such a little thing as price."

Ameng other encounters I was confronted one morning with a lodging-house keeper, who barricaded herself inside her house and fired at me an 'astonishing volley. "I'm tired of coming to the door; if you've got children I ain't going to have them running up and down my stairs, falling and breaking their necks and me having to pay for them, when folks who've got children have got to take care of them, and not be coming onto me for their bones and spilnters, and me always saying I don't take children, and I won't have them."

By this time I had contrived to retreat as far as the gate, when suddenly the irate keeper of the house boited outside the door and cried, changing her tone: "Oh, you ain't the one I thought you was; you ain't that woman. Come in and I'll have my daughter come down and play for you, and I've got just the room you want, and I'm awful sorry."

I assurred her that I was "awful sorry," too, and I managed to get out of the gate and escape, thanking my stars that I had no immediate prospect of having to come "onto" that woman for anybody's "bones and splinters."

After that it was refreshing to meet in my rounds a dainty little person who had just gone to light housekeeping in apartments, and she invited me up to see them. I have not found a more attractive spot. She had taken two rooms with the south sun and no furniture, paying $15 a month for their use. She had draped a bit of soft lace at the windows, made a sitting-room with a dull carpet, a rocking chair, a broad-armed chair, an ottoman, a big cushion, a bamboo table, a reading table with a pretty spread, and dishes of fruit, flowers, books and bric-a-brac scattered about. There was, *too, a small-corner hidden by a screen, where a tiny coal-oil stove and some cooking things were suggestive—to those who looked behind. It was a room in which to be happy, and it all cost less than $60, and the furnishing was hers. That same day I called upon an acquaintance in a $40 suite (without board,) and it was difficult to say which apartments I would have chosen.

People talk of dull times, but in every direction in Los Angeles houses are filling, and the great army of winter tourists is yet to arrive. It is a question where all the newcomers are to be housed, by the time that every westbound train comes loaded. Of the eight flats now in process of erection on Seventh street and South Broadway, which cannot at the best be completed until very nearly November, seven are engaged. These, ranging from five to seven rooms each, rent at $30 and $35 per month, according to floor and location. Of the sixteen colonial flats, on Broadway and Eighth street, which can hardly be ready for occupancy before the same date, and which number six to eight rooms each, renting for from $40 to $60 per month, eleven are already applied for. Large and small boarding-houses are many of them being enlarged to accommodate a pressing demand made even this early in the scason, and hotels are looking forward to a patronage that is unprecedented. These are significant signs of the times.

Yesterday one of the foremost dealers in real estate stated, in answer to inquiry, that two-thirds of the rooms in the best lodging-houses have been full all summer. He claims that if he had this morning ten desirable six to seven-room houses, he could rent every one of them almost as fast as he could take the names down. The only way in which he can solve the question of where all the tourists are to find comfortable places, is that they will have to bring along the money, buy land and build their houses. Land is reasonable now, locations are choice, there was never a better time to build and to set to work the unemployed. He recalls that four years ago tourist travel stopped largely at the Raymond, visited Coronado and went straight by to Santa Barbara. Now the great tide of winter migration will head directly for Los Angeles.

Another business man whose finger is closely on the pulse of real estate says that if he had thirty houses within four blocks of his office in the heart of the city, he could rent them all at a good price before the day is over. There is not a day passes that he has not from two to ten callers for houses for immediate family living. Yesterday one of the foremost deal-

The Row in the Commons.

"There was a sound of rivalry by night." It was in the House of Commons, and a Tory had the floor. The rafters of the chamber with his eloquence did roar.

And, oh, he had a pretty wit, a wit so pretty that Beside it that of London Punch, seemed very stale and flat. It talked not of the weather, and he chatted not of sport.

But such remarks as made T. P. O'Connor wildly snort, Whereat T. P. observed, amid a lot of Irish grins,
It seemed to him that Joseph and old Judas must be twins.

That set the ball a-rolling; Mr. Healy then arose.

And tapped a British Commoner upon his Roman nose, Whereon a noble Tory, to the credit of his race.

Sent both his flists a-coursing into Mr. The Row in the Commons And tapped a British Commoner upon his Roman nose, Whereon a noble Tory, to the credit of his face.
Sent both his fists a-coursing into Mr. Healy's face.
Then sixteen members from the Isle let out a wild hurroo!
And twenty-seven Tories they proceeded then to "do."
They smashed them on the benches, and they tossed them to the sky;
The only thing they couldn't catch was Mr. Speaker's eye.
When every Tory now was red, and every Irlesh hat was smashed the scritchmargers got through, And Mr. Gledstone, the grand old man, in language fit and pat, Called for the question previous, which was "Where are we at?"

Welfare."

(Harper's Weekly:) We cannot remember in the political history of any country an exhibition of more undisguised, gloring private selfishness as against the public welfare than we find in the attitude of the silver kings and their attorneys in the Senate of the United States. The distress caused by the present business crisis is growing at a shocking rate; from day to day more and more failures of business concerns that would be perfectly solvent but for that would be perfectly solvent but for the difficulty of obtaining money on good security, more and more manufac-turing establishments closed, and more and more thousands of workingmen turned into the street, for the same reason. And nobody can tell how far the ruin may spread, unless something be done to remove the cause of the general distrust. What this something should consist in is pointed out by the almost unanimous voice of the business community all over the country. There is not a town large enough to have a chamber of commerce or a board of trade, East or West, North or South, only excepting the silver-producing States, that has not in the most emphatic language called for the prompt repeal of the silver-purchasing clause of the Sherman act as the very first thing necessary to allay the prevailing distrust, and to render possible a revival of that confidence without which business cannot prosper. The very fact of the generality of this demand proves under existing circumstances conclusively that the remedy asked for is the right one. Want of confidence is the source of the trouble. When now all classes of the business community declare with substantial unanimity that by a certain act their confidence will be restored, when, in other words, the very men whose confidence is to be re-vived say that this act will do it, then it is certainly the thing to be done.

Happiness in Work.

(Exchange:) M. Alphonse Rothschild, the head of the Paris branch of the the head of the Paris branch of the great house, is described as of middle height, spare in figure, with long silvery hair, and whiskers and mustache white also, high cheek-bones, a somewhat long nose, and a pair of remarkably bright and expressive blue eyes. He says it is the idle and incompetent who are seeking the eight hours a day. Capital, he says is like water. If you try to lay violent hands upon it, it estry to lay violent hands upon it, it escapes through your fingers; if you treat it gently, it will accomplish all manner of useful ends. In answer to the ques-tion whether he thought there would be always the rich and the poor, he re-plied by asking his questioner whether he did not think there would be always healthy people and invalids. He be-lieved that if Jewish capitalists were attacked that would mean a general as-sault on capital, which would only bring ruin to the country where it was at-tempted. In answer to the question whether he did not consider himself the happiest, as he was supposed to be the richest, man on earth, he smiled and said: "Certainly, if there were no ad-vantages connected with wealth, one would not give one's self so much trouble to get it. But happiness is another affair. At bottom, happiness, the only real thing, is in work."

The Moody Girl, a Good Fellow.

(Chicago Record:) Perhaps the moody girl isn't the happiest mortal in the world, but she's a pretty good sort of a fellow just the same. It is a case of sunshine and showers with her. When she is sad she is the most doleful little person you ever saw; when she is happy she can make a heart of marble feel like dancing. A Study in Brown.

(Harper's Bazar:) The traveling dress commended for a September bride is a study in brown. It is made of camel's hair of a reddish cedar-brown tint, the waist a coat with full basque back, the fronts opening on a close-fitting vest of biscuit-colored cloth, or else of bengaline crossed with rows of cedar-colored velvet. The mutton-leg sleeves are banded with velvet on the sleeves are banded with velvet on the close lower part, and are of medium size, and drooping at the top. The gored short skirt falls in godet curves at the back, and is without trimming other than many rows of stitching about the foot. A round hat of brown rice straw or of French felt has the upturned front faced with brown velvet, and is trimmed with loops and a torsade of velvet holding soft feathers that point backward on each side of the crown.

To complete this suit for cool days English tailors make a cavalry cape with two secret pockets, the shape similar to the golf cape, with straps similar to the golf cape, with straps holding it securely to the waist. This is of soft velvet like vicuna ribbed across, or else of mixtures of rough thread, or of Scotch goods in broken (Philadelphia Record:) The Roman soldiers who built such wonderful roads and carried a weight of armor and luggage that would crush the average farm hand, lived on coarse brown bread and some wine. They were temperate in diet, and regular and constant in exercise. The Spanish peasant works every day and dances half the night, and yet eats only his black bread, onions and watermelon. The Smyrna porter eats only a little fruit and some olives were he walks off with his load of olives, yet he walks off with his load of 100 pounds. The coolie, fed on rice, is more active and can endure more than the negro fed on fat meat. The heavy work of the world is not done by men who eat the greatest quantity. Moderation in diet seems to be the prerequisite of endurance.

Will Prevent Disease.

PASADENA. March 13, 1830.

Morris Poultry Cure Co. DEAR SIRS:—We have thoroughly tested your wonderult cure for poultry, and find it will do all that you claim. It will not only prevent disease of all kinds and keep fowls healthy, but will cure swelled head, roup and scaly legs. When we received the first order of your Poultry Powders we had several fowls very sick in our coops. We administered your cure, and in a few days they were all well.

Very respectfully.

Deservedly Popular

Morris Poultry Cure Co. Dear Sins:—I am glad to testify to the merits of your deservedly popular Poultry Cure. One box of the remedy, given according to your printed directions, saved the lives of a dozen turkeys. (six weeks old) when they were very near unto death with "sore head." They are now in prime condition for Thanksgiving.

Very truly.

Morris Poultry Cure Co. DEAR SIRS:—Allow me to congratulate you on your wonderful remedy. My poultry all got better at once. I have not one sick chicken out of the hirty I had when I sent to you for it; they all are cured. I wish you would send me a pound can and oblige.

The Paper Better Than Ever!

A department particularly adapted to the peculiar character of our Southern California agricultural and horticultural interests, carefully prepared by a practical and educated farmer, will, in the future, be a valuable feature of the ATURDAY TIMES AND WEEKLY MINHOR, and will also appear in the daily issue each Saturday. A Southern California News Page is also published weekly. These features, with the variety, reliability and general excellence of the other departments, render this paper indinitely superior as a general family newspaper to any weekly publication in the Southwest.

been passing through, to record any improvement, however small. Although the expected action of Congress on the silver question may have some beneficial effect on the industries of the country, it seems to be now generally conceded that a settlement of the tariff question one way or the other will do more to stert up dide furnaces and closed factories than any other possible event. It seems idle, therefore, to expect anything like a general resumption, all around, until the new tariff rates are on the statute books and in force.

PERSONALS.

Dr. J. J. Choate left yesterday for the Fast. His mother, who lives in Oklahoma, is unwell, and the doctor left somewhat suddenly at her call.

J. Will Lysons, formerly baseball reporter of The Times, but now managing editor of the Port Townsend (Wash.) Morning Leader, is in the city on a short visit.

Robert E. Paulson the former conductor of the Apollo Club, surprised his friends yesterday by returning to this city, after having spent a year on a coffee planta-tion in Mcaragua.

In Hard Lines.

The Mrs. Dussey, who was arrested some time ago for obtaining money under false pretenses while posing as a W.C.T.U. solicitor, has been confined in the City Jail up to yesterday. She had gradually become worse, and two or three charitably-disposed persons arranged to remove her to the County Hospital.

arranged to remove her to the County Hospital.

An order that she be released on her own recognizance was secured from the police justice, and a hack was procured to take her away.

Mrs. Dussey objected to being taken to the County Hospital, and asked that she be carried to her former room at No. 227 Wilmington street, where her effects were, which was done.

Mr. Peterson, who had charge of the place, was away, and the attendant who was there did not have the key to the room which Mrs. Dussey had occupied. The rent on the room in which Mrs. Dussey had been staying being some weeks behind, and there being no prospect that she will be able to pay it, it is improbable that the woman will be permitted to remain in her former room.

Petty Offenders.

In Justice Austin's court yesterday Walter Goodkind, who has figured in Walter Goodkind, who has figured in police circles several times, was found guilty of vagrancy. He was released on his own recognizance and ordered to appear for sentence today.

Mary Marton was found guilty of soliciting. She was also released on her own recognizance and ordered to appear for sentence today.

THE BOND FUNDS.

An Extra Tax Levy is Necessary.

The Law Mandatory Upon the Subject.

An Important Matter Which Has Been Overlooked.

The District Attorney Will Present the Case to the Supervisors at the Regular Meeting of the Board Today.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors today the county rate of taxation will be fixed for the coming year. For several years past, it is al-leged, the supervisors have omitted to make provision in the tax levy for the amount coming due in interest and principal on outstanding county bonds. This course has reduced the rate of taxation for the years in which such lapses occurred, but consequently ren-ders it more difficult to set matters straight in the succeeding years. The District Attorney was seen about the matter yesterday, and he called the reporter's attention to that part of the law which governs the case. It is subdivision 14 (c.) section 25, of the County Government Act, and reads as

THE CHINESE SITUATION.

No Change in the General Situation-Talk of a Boycott.

There was nothing new in the Chinese situation yesterday. Judge Ross has instructed Dist.-Atty. Denis to issue no more complaints until after Monday, and nothing will be done until that time. Marshal Gard will take the five Chinese sentenced to deportation North tomorrow.

The condition of Chinatown last night was as quiet, if not more so, than the night before. The performance at the theater drew a good house, and the interest in the play was kept up till midnight.

There were numerous rumors floating around as to what had happened or what would happen.

One story was to the effect that a largely attended meeting had been held in which it had been decided that no Chinaman should peddle vegetables or run any laundry wagons today, the idea being to impress the "Melican" men as to the necessity of having John with to the necessity of having John with them. This report, however, could not be confirmed. It was also reported, and rather more authentically, too, that on the night be-fore some white men who had posed as United States deputy marshals had ap-proached several Chinamen, and on threat of arrest extorted money. Three Mongolians were reported to have been "held up" in this way on Los Angeles

At midnight last night there were

At midnight last night there were scarcely a dozen of the Celestials to be seen on the street, and such a quiet as bad not been known at that hour for years prevailed all through Chinatown.

The following Associated Press dispatch was received last night:

"WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Reprerentative Geary this morning held a conference at the Department of Justice with Atty. Gen. Olney and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin.

Mr. Geary declares that he was informed that his law would be inforced; that is, that the money on hand, estimated to be about $17,000, will be used to defray the expenses of deportation of Chinese und.r the decree of the courts ordering their removal, and that contracts will probably be made with the steamship companies to deport Chinese in job lots."

A Serious Loss.

The many friends in this city of Albert E. Fletcher, formerly cashier of the State Loan and Trust Company, who recently removed to Milwaukee, Wis., with his family, will be pained to learn that all their household effects, rare bronzes, pictures and the priceless things one gathers in a lifetime, were consumed in a warehouse in the above city, in which they were stored. Unfortunately, too, the goods were covered by but a small amount of insurance.

BUSINESS.

The Situation Slightly Improv ing All Around.

Dun's Review for Last Week Shows That With Returning Confidence the Commercial Depression is Fast Disappearing.

The business situation in the United States, according to the latest number of Dun's Review, a standard commercial journal, is gradually improving. The issue of September 2, 1893, just at hand, begins its editorial on the events of the week ending on that date, thus distant. Instant improvement in the "The Board of Supervisors shall stock market followed, the average of cause to be assessed and levied each prices rising over $2 per share, and year, upon the taxable property of the there was also a rise in wheat, cotton

It is not strange that the great improvement in feeling, which dispatches from all parts of the country report, has as yet affected manufactures or the actual volume of business comparatively little. If confidence continues to revive, the industries will presently be stimulated to greater activity by Increasing demand for their products. Thus far the usual tests of the condition of business show a marked decline in comparison with last year. In railroad earnings thus far reported for August the decrease is 14.7 per cent., though some of the more important roads report less decrease than of late. Payments through the principal clearing-houses outside New Yorkers. than of late. Payments through the principal clearing-houses outside New York for the week past have been 31 per cent. smaller than for the week last year. But these returns, like the earnings of railways, reflect in the main conditions which existed the week before, and with reviving confidence better reports should presently appear. A most satisfactory indication is that failures are greatly diminishing in importance and somewhat in number. The number reported during the week ending September 2, in the United States, is 356 against 148 for the same week last year, and in Canada, twenty-rine against twenty-eight last year. But of firms failing in the United States only ten were employing capital exceeding $100,000 each, and only sixty-two others exceeding $500 each. In the Eastern States the failures numbered 149 in the Western 142, in the Southern 65, showing improvements in each section.

Of the entire failures those of banks

Of the entire failures those of banks Of the entire failures those of banks number only three, all in the State of Illinois. On the contrary, the resumption of suspended banks steadily continues. Fourteen have resumed during the past week, and five others are reported as preparing to resume. Altogether, there is little doubt that business is slowly getting back to its normal condition. This process of recovery may not be as swift as could be wished for, but it is gratifying,
